HAILING FREQUENCIES

JULY 2023

Center Seat

From the Bridge:

Hope this finds everyone doing well and having your environmental controls in top working order. Please keep yourself cool and hydrated. Humans taking shore leave on Vulcan in the summer are at high risk for heat related illness, please take care of yourself! I would like to start out by thanking everyone that attended the ice cream social. I always enjoy it when we get together to talk, plan and just enjoy each other's company. I am privileged to count each of you among my small circle of friends, I am sure there is a Klingon proverb that says it better but this one comes to mind.

August through January will be extremely busy for us as a group and personally, we have some major events coming up and I hope you all will be able to participate in them. Next month we will be going to Dave & Busters for our fun activity followed by our crew briefing. The more participation we have the more fun we have. We also have to start looking at fall festivals and Christmas parades. However, I do understand that not all can come to all events, so please come to as many as you can. If you have any ideas for activities, please let us know. Thank you to all that donated to our charity events for July. I hope that it makes you feel good when you are able to help others. We have a great crew and am very proud to be your Commanding Officer and honored to be counted among friends!

Your friend and CO

Don't Miss the DEADLINE!

Greetings and welcome to the publication of the first issue of the new CQ supplement for fiction, Strange New Words! We had some really interesting and entertaining submissions. We thank all of the authors for sharing their creative writing with us. We also wish to thank the panel of judges who dedicated their time to reading and judging the submissions. There are First, Second, and Third place winners, plus 2 Honorable Mentions. All authors will receive a special certificate thanking them for their participation. First, Second, and Third place winners will be receiving gift certificates. Who are the winners? Open the Strange New Words link below and see!

Thank you to RADM Dean Rogers, the Editor of Strange New Words, and to CAPT Gerhard Pretorius for providing the very attractive layout. I greatly appreciate their willingness to take on this new project.

Issue 2 of Strange New Words is planned for release in January of 2024. Want to see your creative writing in the next issue? Submissions should be sent to RADM Rogers at rogersdSEAo8@gmail.com by November 1, 2023. The complete rules for entries can be found on the full page ad in CQ #215 that was released July 1.

We have some marvelously talented writers in STARFLEET. I hope you enjoy reading their works as much as I have.

Live long and prosper!

Lead An Away Team At Wolf 359 in GF9's New 'Star Trek: Away Missions' Game

by Chris Post

- GF9 Games has unveiled a new addition to the Star Trek gaming universe with their latest release, Star Trek: Away Missions. This immersive tabletop game allows players to step into the shoes of Starfleet commanders, leading their own landing parties on daring missions across the galaxy.

In Star Trek: Away Missions, players will take on the role of seasoned Starfleet captains, leading their away teams to accomplish a variety of objectives. These objectives can range from conducting espionage and engaging in epic battles to assimilating unique knowledge and technologies. The ultimate goal is to earn points by successfully completing missions over the course of three challenging rounds.

Three Star Trek Novels Are Nominated for Scribe Awards

by David Powell

The Scribe Awards, from the International Association of Media Tie-In Writers, acknowledge and celebrate excellence in licensed tie-in works based on TV shows, movies, and games (video games, computer games, rpgs). This year the seventeenth annual Scribes include nominations for three Star Trek novels.

Jonathan Mayberry, president of IAMTW, announced the nominations on his Goodreads blog. Among the nominations are Harm's Way by David Mack (Original Series) and High Country by John Jackson Miller (Strange New Worlds). Both titles are vying for the award in the Best Original Novel – Speculative category. The third nomination appears in the Best Young Adult / Middle Grade category, A Dangerous Trade by Cassandra Rose Clarke (Prodigy).

Newly Announced 'Star Trek: Picard' Novel Will Explore Seven of Nine's History Post-'Voyager'

Star Trek: Picard brought back familiar faces from Star Trek: The Next Generation. It was meant to be a reunion and farewell to the old cast, but viewers were surprised that the series had brought Jeri Ryan back to Star Trek. Jeri Ryan, aka Seven of Nine, had walked away from the franchise years ago at the end of Star Trek: Voyager.

There have been rumors going around that the actress was also going to be starring in the film Star Trek: Nemesis, but she never did. According to Jeri Ryan, she didn't want to be "type-cast" and thus went on to doing a different series, Boston Public, and leaving the franchise.

Her return to Star Trek would be around two decades later. Reading about what Jeri Ryan did those years, many have wondered what her character Seven of Nine has been doing those past years and soon, you'll find out in a new novel, which will take place during Star Trek: Picard.

After Star Trek: Voyager's ending and their return to the Alpha Quadrant, Star Trek Picard - Firewall will feature Seven of Nine and it will be released on February 27th, 2024.

Patrick Stewart Is Getting A Star Trek: The Next Generation Farewell Movie?

The legendary Patrick Stewart has been playing the role of Star Trek’s Captain Jean-Luc Picard since 1987, and he’s eager to keep portraying his character even after the final season of Paramount+ TV series Star Trek: Picard has ended. The 82-year-old actor is pitching an idea for a “Picard-based movie,” according to Fansided. While there is nothing confirmed just yet, fans are hopeful that they will have the chance to give a final farewell to their captain.

Jonathan Frakes on the Possibility of Star Trek: Legacy

BY SPENCER LEGACY

Star Trek series alum and director Jonathan Frakes has spoken about the possibility of getting executive producer Terry Matalas' proposed sequel series Star Trek: Legacy made.

While speaking with Variety, Frakes noted that the recent final season of Star Trek: Picard was well-received and said that, as an optimist, he believes Star Trek: Legacy could come to fruition.

"I think they can't deny not only the fan reaction, but the fact that the numbers put the show at the Top 10 on the streaming charts," Frakes stated. "And that season of Star Trek: Picard was arguably the among the best seasons of any Star Trek — I think we all agree on that. I mean, Star Trek fans are loyal. It's not millions and millions of people, and it's not the youngest fandom in the world. But I am an eternal optimist, and I believe in a perfect world, they will find the assets and the energy and hire Terry to put together this Legacy show and that will, in fact, come to fruition."

What is Star Trek: Legacy?

Star Trek: Legacy is a potential sequel series to Star Trek: Picard that was pitched on social media by executive producer Terry Matalas. It would see Captain Seven of Nine in command of the U.S.S. Enterprise-G alongside Jack Crusher — Picard's son, who is embarking on his assignment in the field.

Matalas has insisted that there are currently no plans to develop Star Trek: Legacy, noting that Paramount has enough series in the works as it is.

Cooking with Neelix

Amish Macaroni Salad

2 cups elbow macaroni
3 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
3 celery stalks, chopped
1 small red bell pepper, chopped
2 tablespoons dill pickle relish
2 cups creamy salad dressing, such as Miracle Whip®
3 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
3/4 cup white sugar
2 1/4 teaspoons white vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon celery seed

In a large pot of salted, boiling water, cook the macaroni to al dente, according to the package directions.

Set the macaroni aside to cool.

In a large bowl, combine the hard-boiled eggs, the onion, the celery, the red bell pepper, and the dill pickle relish.

In another bowl, mix the creamy salad dressing, the yellow mustard, the white sugar, the white vinegar, the salt, and the celery seed together.

Pour the dressing mixture over the veggie mixture.

Add the macaroni to the veggie mixture and mix well until combined.

Cover the bowl and refrigerate for at least 1 hour and up to overnight.

Serve chilled.

Crew members aboard the International Space Station conducted a variety of scientific investigations during the week of July 10, 2023, including setting up and initiating a round of operations for Plant Habitat-03.

This investigation assesses whether epigenetic adaptations in a generation of Arabidopsis thaliana plants grown in space can transfer to the next generation. Adding extra information to genetic material (DNA) rather than changing existing information is an example of an epigenetic adaptation. Determining whether plants pass these changes on to subsequent generations could identify genetic elements that increase the adaptability of plants to spaceflight.

ACTIVITIES:

The U.S.S. Star League continued its exploration of other cultures investigating a pre-warp civilization mirroring Earths' medieval period. The crew transported down to Eastwind Castle Renaissance Fair in Trenton SC, on June 4th, where the crew posed as travelers from a distant land and participated in numerous activities from bow and arrow competitions to axe throwing. One cadet was named a honorary Jr. knight of the realm. The monarch has invited us to return next year if we are up for the journey. On June 25th we went to the holodeck drama "The Flash" after which we had dinner at the captain's table and held our crew briefing. Among the normal chapter's business, the crew held its biennial election for CO. the current CO was confirmed for another two-year term. We also made plans for the next month's missions. The crew also concluded a used eyeglasses collection for our local Lion's club, a total of twenty pairs were collected.
