Captain's Corner

By Ted Klosowski

July

We all had a great time at Guy's 4th of July Bash as we helped him celebrate his 85th Birthday! We had lots of delicious food and lots of fun!

Our meeting at The Church of St. Andrews was a success. We couldn't get the big monitor to work but the new web cam seemed to work a lot better than the laptop's built-in cam. I would like to thank Linda and Marchelle and everyone else that brought snacks.

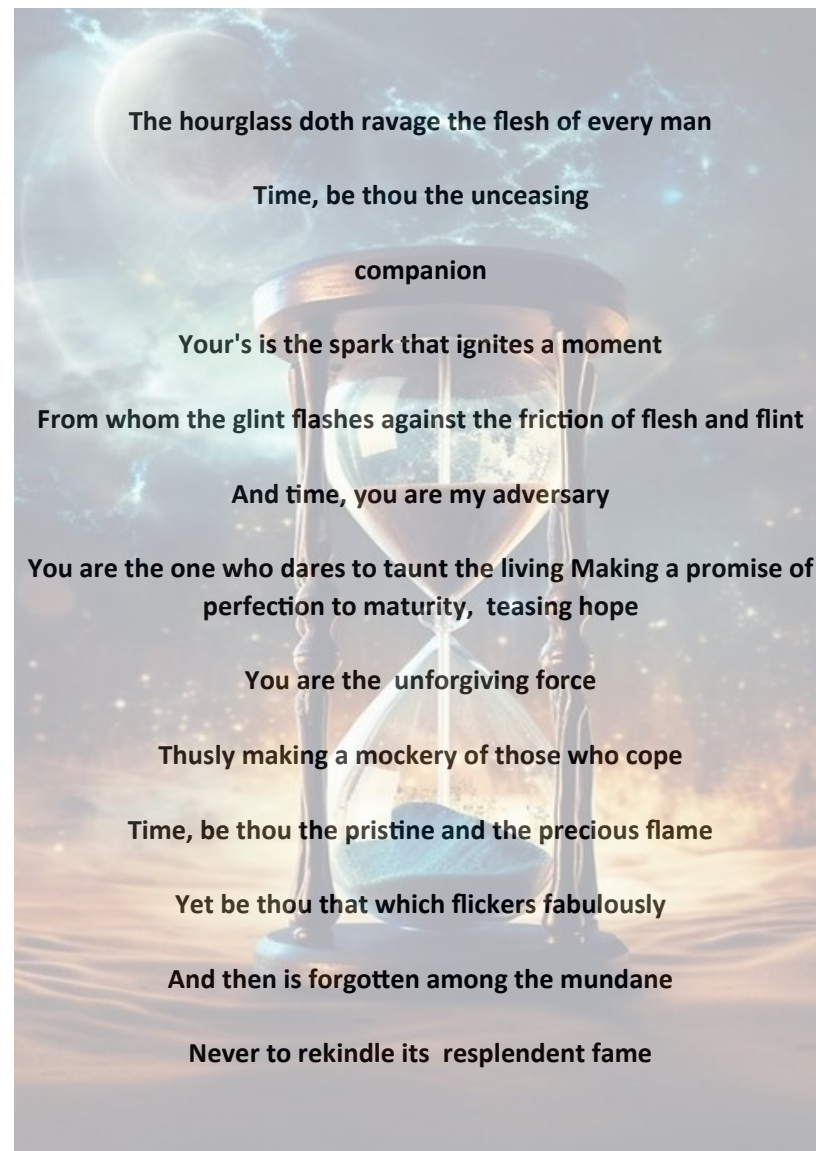

Coming up we have a Wednesday trip to Fremont for the Dungeon flashlight tour which sounds like it might be fun. Always new and fun things with the Tycho!

Coming up we have our next Tycho meeting on Thursday August 1, The Fremont Jail and Dungeon flashlight tour on August 7 and a possible movie outing.

Hope to see you at our next meeting, Thursday August 1 at Church of St Andrew 6:15 and Zoom @6:30

Time, The Adversary

By Belinda Williams

The hourglass doth ravage the flesh of every man

Time, be thou the unceasing

companion

Your's is the spark that ignites a moment

From whom the glint flashes against the friction of flesh and flint

And time, you are my adversary

You are the one who dares to taunt the living Making a promise of perfection to maturity, teasing hope

You are the unforgiving force

Thusly making a mockery of those who cope

Time, be thou the pristine and the precious flame

Yet be thou that which flickers fabulously

And then is forgotten among the mundane

Never to rekindle its resplendent fame

JUST FOR FUN: Beginner Juggling

Submitted by Michael Stelzer

Juggling

(Article as appeared in the Starfleet Communique')

The Three-Ball Cascade

The Three Ball Cascade is a basic juggling exercise and is easy to learn.

SET-UP: The easiest way to practice the three-ball cascade is with a set of beanbag juggling balls, which are available at most bookstores or online. Personally, I have found that the heavier juggling beanbag balls (approximately 180 grams each) are more manageable for beginning jugglers. These can be purchased online.

One ball juggling

Start your training with one ball and get comfortable tossing it in an arch across your body from hand to hand. Try to keep the height of the tosses a little above your head.

Two ball juggling

To juggle two balls, hold a ball in each hand, toss one ball up in the same trajectory as before. As this ball reaches its peak, toss the second ball up underneath it toward your other hand (the one that threw the first ball) and catch them both.

Three ball juggling

Begin with two balls in your dominant hand and one in your non-dominant hand. From your dominant hand, toss the first ball in an arch to your other hand and wait for it to reach its peak (Fig. 1a). Then toss the single ball in your non-dominant hand under the trajectory of the first ball. Allow the first ball thrown to land in your now empty non-dominant hand (Fig. 1b). Once that second ball reaches its peak (from your non-dominant hand), toss up the third ball from your dominant hand and catch the ball arriving from your non-dominant hand (Fig. 1c). Repeat this cycle until you decide to cease your juggling; each time a tossed ball reaches its peak, toss the ball from your other hand below the trajectory of the mid-air ball, which empties that hand to catch the ball in the air.

Note: As part of a comedic Star Trek performance, you may wish to juggle tribbles J

THE SIX: The Untold Story of America's First Women Astronauts

By Loren Grush

This book starts out telling how these women first became interested in becoming an astronaut, and proceeds to tell how they became part of the space program on Shuttle missions. The author reviewed journals, conducted interviews, read articles and watched interviews to gather information on Judy Resnick, Rhea Seddon, Anna Fisher, Kathy Sullivan, Shannon Lucid and, of course, Sally Ride's careers and personal lives. Some were or became wives and mothers as being an astronaut. As the author notes, a separate book could have been done on each astronaut, but this book combines six stories in one. In their jobs at NASA, they did things behind the scenes as well as flying on Shuttle Missions. Jumping from one astronaut's story to another made it a little hard for me to keep the stories straight, as there were six stories being told, but the story was interesting. This book is available from the Toledo-Lucas County Library.

The Alone Time

By Elle Marr

First, I want to start out by saying this isn't my typical read. It is not science fiction or fantasy but occurs in present day. I chose this book based solely on Amazon reviews and it appeared in my suggested reading list so I thought, why not? The book is about two adult sisters who lost their parents in a plane crash when they were younger. Their dad, who just had an affair with his therapist, suggests taking a family trip to Canada to bring the family back together. He is a new pilot and borrowed a friend's plane to take the four of them on the trip. Somewhere over the mountains the plane goes down in a crash and the parents die and the girls have their "Alone Time". Now as adults someone is trying to reopen the investigation into the deaths of their parents. Are the girls to blame? What really happened in those mountains? It makes for an interesting read with several twists and turns.

U.S.S. Tycho Minutes

USS Tycho

July 11, 2024

Commanding Officer: Ted Klosowski

Recording Officer: Marchelle Lee

Location: Charlie's on Central and on Zoom

Attending: Ted, Marchelle, Sherriea, Belinda, Lisa, Linda, Dianne, Jerry, Diana, Wynnie, Tom and Ann Marie

The mystery picture in the newsletter was of Donna-marie. The picture was obtained from Shirley, a fellow policewoman in the same class as Donna-marie in the Toledo Police Academy, and who is the Director of the Toledo Police Museum. Shirley gave us a nice tour of the Museum, which was small but packed with history. Dinner afterwards was at Zaza's.

We enjoyed a 4th of July party at Guy's house. There was lots of good food.

Tycho Elections will be held at the November meeting. No one has stepped up to say they'd like to be Captain, but it's not too late. If there are no contenders, it will be a vote of confidence on Ted.

There will be a Region One beach party in Kentucky, with stops a 4-6 hour drive. We will not be sending anyone.

Tribble toys with scripts signed by David Gerrold are for sale.

Jupmode is having a moving sale, which includes their blank inventory. Last order we printed on California Blue for the T-shirts. Quarter zips, hoodies, etc., are available. Our order needs to be at least 12 pieces. Ted will send out more info and see if there's enough interest to get an order together.

Next event is the August 7 Fremont Dungeon and Jail Tour in Fremont, Ohio. We will be eating at the Garrison Restaurant after the tour, which is about 5 minutes from the tour location. More details will be forthcoming.

The movie Fly Me to the Moon is coming out. There's interest in going as a group. Marchelle will be in touch with possible dates.

September 21 is Davis Besse's Community Day, which features a training center simulator, car show, and information on Davis Besse operations. Jerry plans to volunteer that day.

The location of the next meeting hasn't been determined. Watch your email.

Sherriea and Belinda plan to write a short story for the newsletter. Discussed James Webber and Einstein's theory.

Dianne says we're solvent. Bought a pre-owned car from a relative who couldn't use it anymore.

Linda and Bob had a good time in Ireland.

Lisa is helping her sister with her parents' place and with her father.

Wynnie shared that 577 Foundation in Perrysburg has free concerts in the summer. Bring your own chair and shade.

Jerry and Diana brought embroidered cardstock from Diana's new machine.

Newsletter deadline is Saturday, July 13; the next meeting is August 1.

END TRANSMISSION

Next meeting is August 1, 2024

Submitted by Marchelle Lee

On July 15, 2024, NASA's logo is turning 65. The iconic symbol, known affectionately as "the meatball," was developed at NASA's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland (now called NASA Glenn). Employee James Modarelli was its chief designer.

The red, white, and blue design became the official logo of the United States' new space agency in 1959. A simplified version of NASA's formal seal, the symbol has launched on rockets, flown to the Moon and beyond, and even adorns the International Space Station. Along with its importance as a timeless symbol of exploration and discovery, the logo is also one of the world's most recognized brand symbols. It gained its nickname in 1975 to differentiate it from NASA's "worm" logotype. The "meatball" has made waves in pop culture. NASA.gov
